It Pays To Advertise

The 192nd Battalion

During the first month, just ended, a total of 300 men have joined the 192nd battalion.
During the past week quite a number of men have come to town from different points in B.C., and from all reports from the men arriving here quite an exodus will take place from the different camps just as soon as they break up. It is expected that as soon as the logging industry closes up, at least another hundred men will migrate to Blairmore and help to swell the ranks of the 192nd.

By all reports, it is not expected that the Sanatorium Hotel, at Frank, will be used as a permanent barracks, as it seems to be the intention of the Military Department to concentrate all men at Sarscoe Camp just as soon as the weather will permit. At the present time the various units are stationed at the different places where they enlisted, and it is considered that by gathering all men under one camp better results can be obtained. It is not likely that a move will be made for at least another six or seven weeks, at which time the 192nd battalion should be recruited to full strength.

The officer commanding has been assured that should he be able to raise one-half the strength around here, a sufficient territory will be allotted him in Calgary to enable the battalion to complete. It is also rumored that a full company in Calgary, consisting of members of the Y.M.C.A., is anxious to join, but owing to transportation facilities, it will be impossible to bring them here; but it is hoped that as soon as the move is made to Calgary they will join en bloc.

Lieut.-Col. Lyon is highly pleased with the showing so far made, and expresses the opinion that he has no reason to doubt getting the required number, although it is considered an impossibility to secure a full quota from the small territory at present allotted—from Pincher Creek to Coleman.
Major Bagley, of the 82nd, Calgary, is not likely to join the local regiment, as announced recently, as it was considered by the Calgary authorities that his services were practically indispensable there. Capt. Shaw, who has been appointed junior major, will arrive here about Saturday.

Recent provisional appointments include F. Denison as regimental quartermaster sergeant, and H. Pinkney as company quartermaster sergeant.
Other appointments are expected to be made in the course of a few days.

His Last Request

"Pat," said the priest, "you're drunk, and I'm going to make you stop this right here. If you ever get drunk again I'll turn you into a rat—do you mind that?
If I don't see you I'll know about you just the same, and into a rat you go.
Now you mind that."

Pat was very decent that night, but the next evening he came home, even more drunk than he ever, kicked in the door, and hidly dodged behind the table to defend herself.

"Don't be afraid, darling," said Pat, as he steadied himself before dropping in a chair, "I'm not going to bate ye. I want ye to be kind to me tonight, darling, and to remember the days when we was swatehearts and when ye loved me.
You know his reverence said last night if I got drunk again he turns me into a rat. He didn't see me, but he knows I'm drunk, and this night into a rat I go. But I want ye to be kind to me tonight, darling, and when you see me getting little and the hair growing out on me, and me whining and getting long, if ye ever loved me darling, for God's sake keep yer eye on the cat."—Selected.

Commissioner Sowton To Visit Blairmore

Commissioner Sowton, of the Salvation Army, is to visit Blairmore on Friday of next week and will address a public meeting in the Baptist church in the evening, commencing at 7:30 sharp. The chair will be occupied by Lieut. Col.
Lyon, of the 192nd Battalion, who will be supported by Rev. W. T. Young, of Frank; Capt. Verge, Dr. MacDonald, J.
Chabonier, J. P. Hunter, F. M. Pinkney and other local gentlemen.

The commissioner will be assisted by Major Hay, of Edmonton; Staff-Capt.
Pacock, of Winnipeg headquarters; Capt. Hed and Lieut. Samson, of Macleod; and Capt. Acton and Lieut. Mundy, of Coleman.
Commissioner Sowton has had a long and varied experience in Salvation Army circles, having spent 32 years as an officer. The greater part of his experience has been in foreign lands. Scandinavian and adjoining territories has been the scene of much of the commissioner's activities, he being in supreme command; but the past seven years has seen the commissioner at work in India, where the work of the Army has made remarkable developments. He comes to us new from India, and his popular lecture "India Under Two Flags" has been highly eulogized by the public of various cities in Canada. He possesses a fluency of speech, combined with a powerful delivery. Crowded halls throughout the West have sat with rapt attention to hear the commissioner as teller of the great progress of Salvation Army work in various lands. This gathering is creating wide-spread interest, and it is hoped that a large crowd will assemble to give welcome to the commissioner on Friday night next.

As the Commissioner has to fulfil an engagement at Calgary the week end, it is necessary that the meeting should be over by 9 o'clock, hence the early start.
This schedule will make it convenient for visitors from east of Blairmore to return home by train.

The Soldier's Decalogue

Written by a Canadian who went to the front with the Queen's University Engineering corps, and is now an officer in a Scottish regiment.

The 1st Commandment is: Thou shalt challenge all persons approaching thee.

The 2nd Commandment is: Thou shalt not send any engineering, or any likeness of any ship in the Heaven above, or any drawing of any submarine in the waters under the earth, for I, the Censor, am a jealous Censor, visiting the iniquities of the offenders with three months C.R., but showing mercy unto thousands by letting their letters go free; who keep my commandments.

The 3rd Commandment is: Thou shalt not use profane language, unless under extraordinary circumstances, such as seeing your comrade shot or getting petrol in your tank.

The 4th Commandment is: Remember the soldier's week consists of seven days. Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work, and on the seventh do all thy odd jobs.

The 5th Commandment is: Honor thy King and thy country. Keep thy rifle well oiled, shoot straight, so that thy days may be long upon the land which the enemy gives up.

The 6th Commandment is: Thou shalt not kill—time.

not adulterate thy mess tin by using it as a shaving jug.

not steal thy neighbor's kit.

not bear false witness against thy comrade, but preserve discreet silence as to his goings out and his comings in.

The 10th Commandment is: Thou shalt not covet thy sergeant's post, nor thy corporal's, nor thy staff-major's, but by dint of perseverance, rise to the high position of a field-marshal.

The 11th Commandment: Thou shalt love thy comrades of whatever race or color they be, but thou shalt hate the Germans as thou dost hate HELL.

Heard at a drill ground not a hundred miles from Blairmore:

"Drill Sergeant, to bunch of recruits—"Boys, come on this way, step lively, this war is a case of life or death. The more life you put into it in Canada, the less chance you have of death in France. Quick, march!"

George—"If a Tommy was in France and his rifle refused to discharge owing to dampness in his cartridge, what place in Blairmore would he wish for?"

Edgie—"The Compositon Hotel, because he would be sure of Sparks."

Women and Politics

"Tis said that Samson slew a thousand men
With nothing but the jawbone of an ass,
And this is Bible history—we don't doubt it—
But politicians' jaw has vanquished more—Aye, millions have succumbed. You can't dispute it.
The ladies now should thank their stars they live In this fair province where each one can vote
Under a decent government which gives Them credit due for equal brains and thought."

They haven't had to fight with bricks or sax.
Like Madame Pankhurst or her crazy crew.
Our statesmen here have some regard for sex.
They are progressive—this is something new.

The ladies now may have to take the floor
To vindicate their rights, now they've a vote.
There's some surprise brewing, I feel sure,
And would-be candidates had best take note.

The women's vote may alter many things.
It's one thing that the men cannot ignore.
There's all those avicious trusts and rings, Those greedy combines that afflict the poor.

The "Infant Industries" who want a vote.
Although they're making millions by the way;
And grafters in high places, who are worse.
They're traitors, and the people have to pay!

I can but sympathize with those poor
men
Who try to talk them over for their vote.
Each dance will want to know the how and when,
And long before they're through they'll "get their goat."

Two brothers were discussing which smelled the stronger, a goat or a tramp. They agreed to leave it to the judge.

"All right," said the judge; "trot in your animals."

They brought in the goat and the judge fainted. Then they brought in the tramp and the goat fainted.

The Lethbridge Herald gives a good pointer: "If you can't wear khaki, wear overalls." Too many do find who do not want to work, neither do they want to don the khaki. They are not producers. They are the poorest class of citizenship, and it is only natural to expect that one who will shirk from work will shirk from fighting.

Colonel Hoggett, the Canadian Red Cross Commissioner in London in a cable to the Dominion headquarters, states that the treasury have given directions that all gift parcels of dutiful goods sent to members of the Canadian contingents on duty in Great Britain admitted duty free. The prohibition bill, designated as the Liquor Act, was put through the various stages of legislative procedure without debate or comment, and will become a law just as it was voted on by the people at the referendum election.

The provincial estimates, presented to the legislature on Tuesday last, includes an appropriation of $50,000 for the administration of the liquor act, which act was approved by the people in July and has now become law.

Provincial secretary of the Red Cross acknowledges receipt of $150 from Blairmore branch, and $132 from Coleman branch; also $5.00 from each of the above mentioned branches towards the Ogden convalescent home fund, and $363 from the Coleman branch to the general fund.

Rev. D. E. Cameron delivered a powerful oration as his final appeal from the pulpit of the Coleman Institutional church on Sunday night last. During his discourse he stated the several reasons why he had enlisted and why he had resigned the pastorate. He felt that the time had come when the call reached every able-bodied man who could possibly qualify for service or get away. He scored the individuals who could go and enlist, but who shirk clear of their duty and suffering from tongue fatigue spend their time warming the hotel radiators while their fellow man was spilling his life's blood on the battlefield to allow food to reach their families and friends at home. It such individuals did not hear the call and offer their services, he would not know them and never again would wish to speak to them. He knew of many such, but would not quote any names. He did not believe in preaching patriotism from the pulpit and not practice what he was preaching; therefore he felt that it was his duty to resign the preaching and put his whole heart and what soul he had towards fighting for the nation's great cause. Mr. Cameron's stay in Coleman has been a very brief one, but during that short period he has won a high place in the hearts of the good people of that town. He is one of the most zealous workers of the Presbyterian church in the West and has been very highly esteemed in every community in which he has been called to work.

Abyssinia's Emperor Offers Aid to Allies

Would Give 200,000 Soldiers as Enterprising Countries Demanded

Jesau, the young emperor of Abyssinia, is so lavishly disposed to vacate the entire empire to any country that would take it over. He has offered to give 200,000 soldiers to any country that would take it over. He has offered to give 200,000 soldiers to any country that would take it over.

M. Airy points out this assertion in connection with the response given before the foreign affairs and colonial committees of the chamber, presided by Sir James Macdonald, deputy from Gloucestershire, that the French government, in accordance with the aims of the response, is already the means of securing the co-operation of Abyssinian troops under guarantee of the independence of that country. With regard to this proposition it is recalled that the late king, Haile Selassie, had offered to place his army at the disposal of the French government in 1907.

Message to Bereaved

Sir Oliver Lodge Says That Doing Their Duty Mitigates Sorrow of Death

Sir Oliver Lodge has issued a "message to the bereaved" in the form of a letter to the Christian Commonwealth.

Sir Oliver's message reads: "The amount of mourning and suffering throughout Europe at the present time is something terrible to contemplate. But it must be remembered that, from the point of view of the bereaved, the loss of a loved one is a great loss. It is a loss that cannot be made up. It is a loss that cannot be made up."

"They would like their friends here to recognize that the bereaved are not 'unduly' above all, not to consider them as going out of existence, extinguished and no longer real. Sorrow at their departure is inevitable, but grief which is excessive causes them pain."

A "Cub" reporter was sent out by the city editor to get up a story on the marriage of a young couple and a man well known in the city. The "Cub" was gone about an hour and then returned and went straight down to his desk, by which he sat. Editor noticed his presence and his evident sadness.

"Here, kid!" shouted the superior, "why aren't you at work to-day?"

"Nothing doing," replied the boy. "Nothing doing." What do you mean? Didn't the wedding take place?"

"Nope, the bridegroom went to show us up to there and I nothing doing."

Optimism at the Front

The Life of a Gun is Longer Than Generally Believed

A Canadian who contributes letters to the Edinburgh Scotsman, and who always writes from the business front with no equanimity, says: "The artillery have been quite active during this last week. 'Brits' started the trouble himself, and every other day for four days he has been firing at him. He has been asking for, and his reply is getting more feeble all the time. It is in the way of the war will be heard all the winter. I don't think it will be such a tough proposition next spring after all."

Our weekly allowance of ammunition keeps on increasing, and even if we don't just hit our targets every time, some particular ideal is getting some benefit that will make for success in the long run. In our particular line, new officers are getting the benefit of learning how to observe and correct artillery fire under almost every conceivable condition of atmosphere, and that is probably the most essential thing in good shooting. The officers who have been coming in for their share of work at last one old theory is exploded. I refer to the theory that the life of a gun is longer than generally believed.

A Pill That is Priced—There have been many pills on the market lately, and pressed upon public attention, but none has endured so long or met with so much favor as Farnham's Vegetable Pills. "Widespread use of them has attested their great value, and they need no further advertisement than this. Having firmly established themselves in public esteem, they are now being put in the list of standard vegetable preparations."

Should Germany Win

A Stirring Recruiting Speech Delivered in Ireland

Speaking of the possibility of a German invasion of Ireland, a recruiting meeting, the Rev. W. F. Carter, C.C., said: "We are now, in the midst of a crisis, with the most serious crisis that has occurred for three hundred years—since Cromwell's invasion of Ireland. Don't think it is England's right only. As sure as England goes down, we will go down, too. I will tell you a little story. I once got aboard a boat leaving Liverpool, and amongst the passengers were an old man and his wife. When they were nearing the mouth of the Mersey I overheard the woman make the remark—'Heuben, heuben, what a fine old man!' It is the situation today. In an excellent tone, 'Don't worry,' he replied. 'It ain't our ship.' Now, my friends, that is the situation today. In an excellent tone, 'Don't worry,' he replied. 'It ain't our ship.' Now, my friends, that is the situation today."

"Fine Feathers" An All Star Caste

The second United Producing Company's guaranteed attraction to be offered at the opera house, Blairmore, on night only, Thursday, March 24th, bids well to even outclass their production of "Within The Law." It is Eugene Walter's great masterpiece, "Fine Feathers," and will be offered by an all star caste brought direct from New York for this particular attraction. The caste is headed by Jane Babcock, a well-known metropolitan star, who portrays the character of the ambitious and extravagant wife.
Miss Babcock was considered one of the leading stage beauties of New York, and is one of the highest salaried artists that has been offered the theatres of Western Canada. She is very ably supported by Jack Carrington as "Bob Reynolds," the husband who listens to the complaints of his discontented spouse and accepts the bribe offered by "Grand," which eventually leads to his downfall. Katherine Bond and Ruth Dettin are well-known actresses that give the comedy of the cast and were picked particularly for their experiences along these lines. Harry Hayden and Lawrence Foster are two prominent stars that round out the strongest cast ever offered to theatre patrons in Western Canada.

Special scenery, effects, properties, in fact every detail possible has been considered that might add to the artistic value of the production. It will prove to be the most convincing, gripping and interesting play offered in years. Seats on sale at W. A. Beebe's office.

The Boy You Raised

You didn't raise your boy to be a soldier.

Nor yet to shoot another mother's son; But, God forbid that he should stand by idly
And see his mother slaughtered by the Hun.

You didn't raise your boy to be a soldier;
You taught him not to use the deadly gun.

Yet you'd rather he had died when just a baby,
Than grow up far too proud to shoot the Hun.

You didn't raise your boy to be a soldier,
Nor did you think he would be one.

Thank God his veins with British blood are running
And he has gone to slay the tyrannizing Hun.

You didn't raise your boy to be a soldier,
But he has proved a true, brave, British son.

And should he die upon the field of battle, You'll be proud to know he helped, when victory's won.

Be proud you've raised a boy who is a soldier, Defending now the honor of his race, And should he fall whilst nobly thus defending.

In heaven he'll fill a highly place.
—Mrs. James K. Adam, Drumheller, Alberta.
